COTTON IN 1861 AND 1862.

The royal power wielded by cotton here, tofore is wasting away. Will cotton be king on the anniversary of the bombardment of Fort Sumter, now but a few days distant? What is the relative position of the cotton power in April of 1861 and 1862; we should like to ask of the Sea Island planters in South Carolina, and of the rebel Congress at Richmond, though we can hardly hope they will give us an answer. The ruin of secession insolence is too bitter a thing to speak of; it is terrible retribution to find no man to pity, in April, 1862, that was so triumphantly defiant and violent in April, 1861. There needs no proof that the original seat of secession power is now fallen beyond the possibility of recovery. There can be no league of confederated cotton States, and failing in that, there can hardly be a South Carolina hereafter. The extreme punishment even now, visited on that handful of gangrened pride and insolence, is such that it is hardly possible to anticipate a reconstruction of its political or social order, such as will make it again an equal member of the Union it tried to destroy.

All along the coast of the Carolinas and the Gulf the violence of war falls inevitably on the cotton interest. There is not an inch of the district on which Sea Island cotton grows that is held by the rebels to-day. Not one of the great lords of these plantations will drive his forces afoul in this present planting season, and if the seed is put into the earth at all it will be by contraband hands, working for themselves, or for that benevolent power which affords them protection. It is fearful to think of the reverse side of the war picture.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH.—We were much pleased with the services at this Church, yesterday afternoon; they were conducted by Rev. Dr. Jenkins, of the Naval Academy. The sermon was one of the most impressive ones of this able divine. The following beautiful letter addressed to his congregation, by Rev. C. Howard Malcolm was read:

SUNDAY, April 8th.
The Ministers and their families, &c., will know how, under the law of Moses, when the sacrifice was offered for the whole people of Israel, all persons who could not be present, and yet offered their prayers to God in union of spirit, and in virtue of the sacrifice offered in the Temple, were accepted of God. So, in that very manner, I met with you this afternoon, as you gather, in solemn and loving remembrance of our Saviour, around the Sacramental Table. My heart is with you, my dearest brethren. In spirit I partake of the sacred feast with you, and pray to receive with you the Divine blessing bestowed upon those who communize in faith and love.

Although, for long, and every week, God's providence has kept me from His sanctuary, I yet desire to bear my testimony that His holy spirit has ever been with me, to comfort and sustain me. God's hand has guided me, and you, my loved Church, in this affliction. I would not have one moment, or one event, of it changed, UNLESS IT BE HIS WILL, AND FOR HIS GLORY. All the promises of the Sacred Word have given me infinite sweetmess. I humbly and prayerfully trust that I have been drawn much nearer to our Lord, by this illness.

God bless you; DRAW NEAR TO CHRIST, THE GREAT RISHOP OF THE CHURCH. Let this event draw all of us nearer to God! So, when the Lord, in His infinite mercy to me, returns me to His sanctuary, with renewed strength, and increased praise, we may follow with closer steps, the guidance of our Christ, the blessed Shepherd of the flock!

Receive again, my dearest, my loved brethren in Christ, my prayers and blessing. Most affectionately in Christ I love your pastor,

CHARLES HOWARD MALCOLM.

SABBATH SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—The Sabbath School connected with the M. E. Church in Thames St., under the superintendence of Mr. Nathaniel Kenyon, had an exhibition yesterday afternoon. The exercises consisted of singing by the children, declaimations, reciting verses from the Bible, the reading of poems by Mrs. Brown Briggs, one of the teachers, and concluded with a short speech by the Rev. Mr. Hartley. The school in Marlboro Street closed somewhat earlier than usual to give their scholars an opportunity to attend, but when they arrived they found the house already too full to receive them.

BOAT Wrecked.—A large sized sloop boat, was found yesterday, on Bateman's Point, with the sides badly broken in. It has not been ascertained whose she belongs, but it is thought, that she came from Martha's Vineyard or somewhere in the South to a position from which it has long been extricated by the slave oligarchs. These journeys printers will no doubt represent more truly the opinions and wants of the people than those better informed, and therefore more guilty editors, who now sink into hopeless oblivion and contempt.

ABOUT THE MERRIMAC.—The Fortress Monroe correspondent of The Philadelphia Inquirer gives the following interesting items of intelligence:

"Commodore Thimble is the new commander of the Merrimac, he having been assigned to her several days ago. The Merrimac has been refitted, strengthened, and more heavily armed than heretofore."

"Every preparation has been made on board of her for an early visit to Hampton Roads. This is a fact, and nothing more."

LOCAL NEWS: STYLING.

To the Editor of the Daily News:—An old ad in my pocket:—"For some months past I have occasionally heard of most disgraceful outrages being perpetrated by boys, who attend the public school near Young Street, upon the property of Julia Tucker, who I understand is a very respectable and industrious colored woman, who lives in her own house in Young Street. This evening the said Julia came to my house between nine and ten o'clock, complaining that she was to be out so far from home in the evening, but said she came to see me hoping that I would try to do something to protect her, as just before she left the house her door had been split and the knob broken off by the boys. She made to me the following statement:

"I came from Wilmington, North Carolinia in 1859. Since then I have earned enough to pay more than six hundred dollars for my house, besides paying several hundred dollars towards my brother, whose freedom I bought for $600 dollars. I owe at the Bank $200 on his account yet, and until I can pick up work hard, tooted about swill and plodded myself to living in order to be able to pay it. Have been sick and confined to my bed most of the time since last Christmas, am sick now, and not fit to be out, but came from necessity.

Last fall the boys that go to Miss Murry's school began to break my windows and door, and to batter my house with rocks; have been doing so for about three nights a week for some weeks past; have split the door and broken off the knob to-night (the knob I have). My house is now open and I am not able to repair it. The wind and snow has been coming into my house this winter whilst I have been confined to my bed with sickness, which has been much increased by the fright I have been put to, so as to make me tremble all over. I cannot tell what makes the boys disturb me, as I have done nothing to injure them, unless it be because I am the only colored person living in the street. I have complained to the Major several times; and he has sent the police down; but the boys watch them and do not trouble me until they go away, when they begin again. I have conducted myself well and paid my taxes, and I do think that the city should repair my house."

Here is a peaceable and industrious citizen who pays taxes expressly for protection from unlawful violence of her property, which has been defaced and injured by a lawless mob. Can there be any doubt that the city is both morally and legally bound to repair her house? It should be done at once, and the boys who committed the outrage sent to a school of reform.

THOS. R. HAZARD.

THE following is the Alton of this week:

"Not a few British officers from regiments stationed in Canada, or employed there on a special service, have been recently permitted to examine with professional eye their bone and sinew, their equipment, their discipline, their maneuveres, and their movements, in the meantime the President's message appears to be exciting the attention abroad, and eliciting the general commendation of the friends of our Government.—Boston

Journal.

In this day, on the 6th inst., Mrs. Sarah Peckham, wife of Felix Peckham, Esq., aged 55 years.

The funeral will take place from her late residence in Broad street, to-morrow, (Tuesday) afternoon, at 2 1/2 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend without further notice.

GIDEON WELLES.

Hon. H. Helm, Vice-President of the United States, and President of the Senate.

A LIVELY Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican says of Generals Shields and Banks:

"The fighting is allowed by the public enemy there is sure to be a war if not predominant western element. It is rather Hibernian to class amongst western General Shields, a gentleman who was born as far east as Ireland, but all his fighting qualities were matured and nourished in the West. At the head of a western brigade he fought in Mexico, and a very considerable share of western sunlight shone clear through his body in the path where a Mexican grape-shot had preceded it. In the first considerable fight of the Potowmack army this brother of a western boy was a commander. And being, as usual, in the immediate vicinity of the vagrant shells and bullies, he came in contact with a shell. His arm was broken, but he did not seem particularly to mind it. He still directed all the operations of the battle with the greatest coolness, until General Banks coming up took command in person, and pursued the beaten and disheartened enemy beyond the bills of Strasburg and Banks, you know, to another Illinoisan. It is rather cool to name as a sucker one of the most prominent politicians of Massachusetts, but we are always in attendance on their arrival and departure for our city.

This is somewhat different from the opinion given of our soldiers by such writer as Mr. Russell of the London Times, and by the son of George Sand, who accompanied Prince Napoleon to the country, and is now retailing his impressions in the Revue des Deux Mondes. The opinions of professional men must be received with attention, and we may congratulate ourselves that, in this case, they are no favorable to us.—N. Y. Post.

THE recent speech of Parson Brown has given offence to the Israelites.—The last number of the Jewish Messenger says:

"We regret to observe that he persists in harping on the religious belief of J. P.

Benjamin whom he designates as 'a little miserable Jew.' With Mr. Benjamin's little opinion or personal character Mr.

Brownlow may be more familiar than our selves, but we insist that the Parson has not the shadow of a right to introduce in his speeches any such slanders on the Jewish religion as those, in which, on the last two occasions, he has been noticed to include. We protest, in the name of our co-religionists, against Mr. Brownlow's unwarrantable use of the Jewish name in a connection designed to ridicule or debase it. It is about time such a prejudice, worthy of the dark ages, had raised to exist."

THE editors of the Nashville Patriot, in consequence of the altered condition of affairs, have retired from that paper and leased the premises to their employees, who will continue the paper on Union principles. This fact illustrates the tendacity of the war to elevate labor in the South to a position from which it has long been extricated by the slave oligarchs purest oils and fresh fruits for flavoring, and allowing no adulteration whatever, I am confident to meet with the same good success in this department of my business as in the others.

A nice assortment of Toys and Fancy Barkets, I shall keep on hand as usual.

Thankfully appreciating past kind patronage, I will endeavor to do all in my power to secure a continuation of the same.

THE SPECIFIC PILL.

A SPECIFIC REMEDY FOR Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, and Genital Irritability in either Sex.

This Melody, the terrible consequences of which are too well known to require more than a brief allusion to them, is one of the most hideous, and therefore dangerous, of all the long catalogued human ill's. It sets the young of life rapidly under the influence of debility, and a premature grave. From one to six boxes of the SPEC-IFIC PILL are sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the most GRAVE cases, whether Constitutional, or arising from Ailments or Excesses.
